

Video 5: Example Product 3

In this video, I'll be showing you another example of how this system works.

Let's go ahead and start.

Okay, so, in this video, I'll be using Amazon Best Sellers to try and find products to sell on eBay.

As you can see they have several categories with images to the left here, and then on the right, they have a list of all the categories.

Let's go with Camera & Photo for this example. I like the camera and photo categories because cameras can vary quite dramatically in how they are priced from website to website.

Now, in a separate tab, I'll open eBay. This way I can go back and forth quickly to check prices.

Let's look at the Wyze Cam 1080p HD Indoor Wireless Smart Home Camera. It's priced at $49.58 on Amazon. So let's copy and paste the text from Amazon and flip over to ebay. Then paste the text in the search bar and let's see what we find.

Okay, it looks like the prices are about even with Amazon so let's go back to Amazon and check again.

Let's take a look at this Victure Trail Game Camera With Night Vision.

Copy and paste the text.

Click over to eBay. Paste it in.

Now, okay. This product is actually 15 to 20 dollars cheaper on eBay than on Amazon.

Most of the sellers on eBay are using free shipping, but , this unit, let's take a look at how big and heavy it is. Okay, so it's only about 5 inches long and weighs just over a pound. So this wouldn't be very expensive to ship. So if you bought it for 22.99, and you sold it for $45, and you factor in say $8 for shipping, you're going to make almost $15 per sale. Now, that's not killing it, but, if you sell just 3 a day that's close to $1000 a month in profits.

Okay, let's do one more thing. Let's see what Walmart is selling this product for.

Doesn't look like they carry this brand. Let's look here at the Tasco 8MP Game Camera. It's a best seller so, it must be popular. Let's copy the text and see how much they're selling for on eBay. So that's actually selling for more on eBay as well.

You could buy a few of these from Walmart and see how well they sell on eBay too.

So, that's just another example of how you can use various resources, like Amazon Best Sellers, to find products to purchase and resell on eBay.